

09/21/457

ABSTRACT

Method and apparatus are provided for developing a speech menu which is adapted to store a plurality of sound commands for a speech-enabled application. A first sound command of the plurality of sound commands is compared to a second sound command to determine an accuracy value. If the accuracy value is less than a predetermined value, then at least one of the first sound command and the second sound command is replaced with a third sound command.

NY3-2531-5

09216457 121898